WinMd5Sum Portable

winMd5Sum is a small utility for determining the MD5 hash sum of a file. Unlike most other programs of its type, winMd5Sum is free and does not require you to sign up. All you have to do to obtain its MD5 signature is drag and drop the file into the window. The program calculates the MD5 sum using the SHA-1 algorithm and displays the result. After you enter a second checksum value, the program calculates the result of this new file hash. If the result matches the first, the file is fine. If not, there are some issues. This utility does not modify any system files, does not update the registry, and is completely free. What's new in version 3.9.2323.0: Major: The program automatically closes the main window when a new file hash is calculated. This prevents the need to reenter the hash value and allows for easy management of multiple files. The "Edit" and "Revert" buttons have been replaced by a "Reset" button, as the "Edit" and "Revert" buttons do not have any real function. Added: The program now uses SHA-1 to calculate the file hash instead of MD5. Minor: Added: "Save" has been replaced with "Stop" in the "File" menu. Added: If a program can't start and you get the error "The specified path is too long", you can type in the program path by hand. Fixed: The program would sometimes not calculate the hash of a file that contained characters other than numbers and lowercase letters. If the program is placed in the "All Programs" list in the start menu, the program name is displayed in caps. The program did not support file extensions that are larger than 8 characters, for example EXE, DLL, OLE.
